Special Correspondence. James Bryce, of England, author of "Tae American Commonwea.71," was in Wasnington a few weeks ago, and waffe here l'asked him, among other questions, which of the arts, in his opinion, had greatest development in this country. co promptly replied, "The art of money making." Here at the capital we see little of this art, but much of its results. This is a sear of money spending, not of money get ing. Nearly althe rich men we have here came from other parts of the country, and made their wealth elsewhere. In congress are many very rich men, out not so many as the common talk has it. Estimates of men's wealth are generally exaggeration, and when public men are concerned the guesses are particularly made to extravagance. It is generally supposed that one-half or mere of the members of the senate are mil ionaires, but Loubt if more than fifteen members of that body could clear no a million collars were they pushed to

An incident relating to these Potomac mines is worth te ling. Some years ago Senator Learst was coming to Wasnington by the Barmore and Onio roac. . In Washington we have many men of weard who made their money in the states, and who, though not in public life, come here to live because liey like the capital as a place of residence. The richest of these, perhaps, is Leiter, who amassed a fortune in the dry goods business in Chicago. He lives in Mr. 3 aine's house. Another rich man is Mr. Warder. of Springfield, O., who grew rich in making agricultural implements. Thirty years ago on ac joining farms in southwestern Onto lived two poor pays. These prizes will soon be put on expibition in one of the most prominent and centra of the windows in the business portion of town, and will doubtless stimulate the contestants for the various honors to still greater exertions. The business men and friends of the club nave been most libera, thus far in their encouragement, both financial y and inthe interest displayed, and nothing wi. be spared by the committee either in time or money to make the games one of the most successful athletic events ever he'd in the states Mr. Vicler, the instructor of the clay, will be happy to give anyone wishing to enter for these sports, assistance or in ormation and the committee is a ways ready to offer what facilities it possesses for those contest-

The committee from the city council which went to Denver to consult with the railroad officials regarding the Klowa street crossing returned Tuesday morn-, ing. They report that they met Genera. Manager Smith, of the Rio Grande, and were pleasantly received by him. Ze told the committee that his company would glad y join in building a viaduet, but would give no encouragement to a grade crossing. They would have to consult with the Rock Island officials, nowever, and asked that blans be made to be sent to them. The committee express themselves as confident that arrangements will soon be made with the two roads to build the viacuot at a cost of a sout $25,300.

Mr. William Davis, the uncertager, received his handsome funera, car .as: _ . . . week that he nurchased in Chicago, and it is now at the E Paso Livery company's barn.
